How the System Works

- ./ When the Knox Company receives the first order form completed by a property owner, the order is filled and shipped to the property owner. Knox master keys are shipped to the fire department.
- ./ The property owner installs the Knox® device according to local regulations and notifies the fire department when it is ready for inspection. For key boxes, vaults or cabinets, fire department personnel secure the property owner's building entrance keys and emergency information into the storage device.
- ./ When the next order is received, the same master key code is used. Again, the property owner procures and installs the rapid entry device and fire department holds the Knox master key for use during emergency response.
